WE CALL THEM INTRUDERS

A documentary about Canadian mining in Africa

7 pm, September 19, Hickman Building 105 UVic

75% of the world's mining companies are headquartered in Canada, owing largely to the federal governments unwillingness to regulate their offshore operations. Filmmakers Tamara Herman and Susi Porter-Bopp trace Canadian investments in mining directly to brutally destructive human and environmental consequences in Zambia and Tanzania.

Join the filmmakers Tamara Herman and Susi Porter-Bopp and a panel of experts for an illuminating post-screening Q & A discussion.
