NASSIMA AL-SADA, SAUDI ARABIA

Nassima al-Sada loves animals and plants. Even in prison, she looks after a plant. It is her only link to the outside world.

Nassima is a woman who lives in Saudi Arabia. Until two years ago, women in Saudi Arabia were not allowed to drive. They were also not allowed to travel, work, get married, or do many other things unless a man (often her father, husband, or brother), allowed her to. Nassima and other women worked really hard to change these laws and give women freedom. The government arrested Nassima and other women who had called for these freedoms. The government finally allowed women to drive and has given women some freedoms. But Nassima and other women are still in jail. Nassima has been there for over two years. That's a really long time!

Nassima was put in a prison cell alone and completely isolated from other prisoners from several months. Now she is allowed one phone call each week with her family, but no visits, not even from her lawyer. Nassima and her family aren't giving up. We won't either!

Ask the government of Saudi Arabia to free Nassima and the other women's rights activists now.

WRITE A MESSAGE LIKE THIS TO THE KING

Your Majesty,

Nassima al-Sada just wants women to be free. She should not be in jail. Please release her and the other women's rights activists right now.
