

EARTH DEFENDERS ARE UNDER ATTACK

Latin America is the most dangerous region in the world to defend land, Indigenous territory and the environment.

The murder of Lenca river defender Berta Cáceres in Honduras has become the face of this deadly crisis.

But threats, attacks and killings are increasing in country after country across the region.

Earth defenders appeal for our solidarity!

Will you speak up for defenders who risk their lives to protect the earth and all who depend on it?

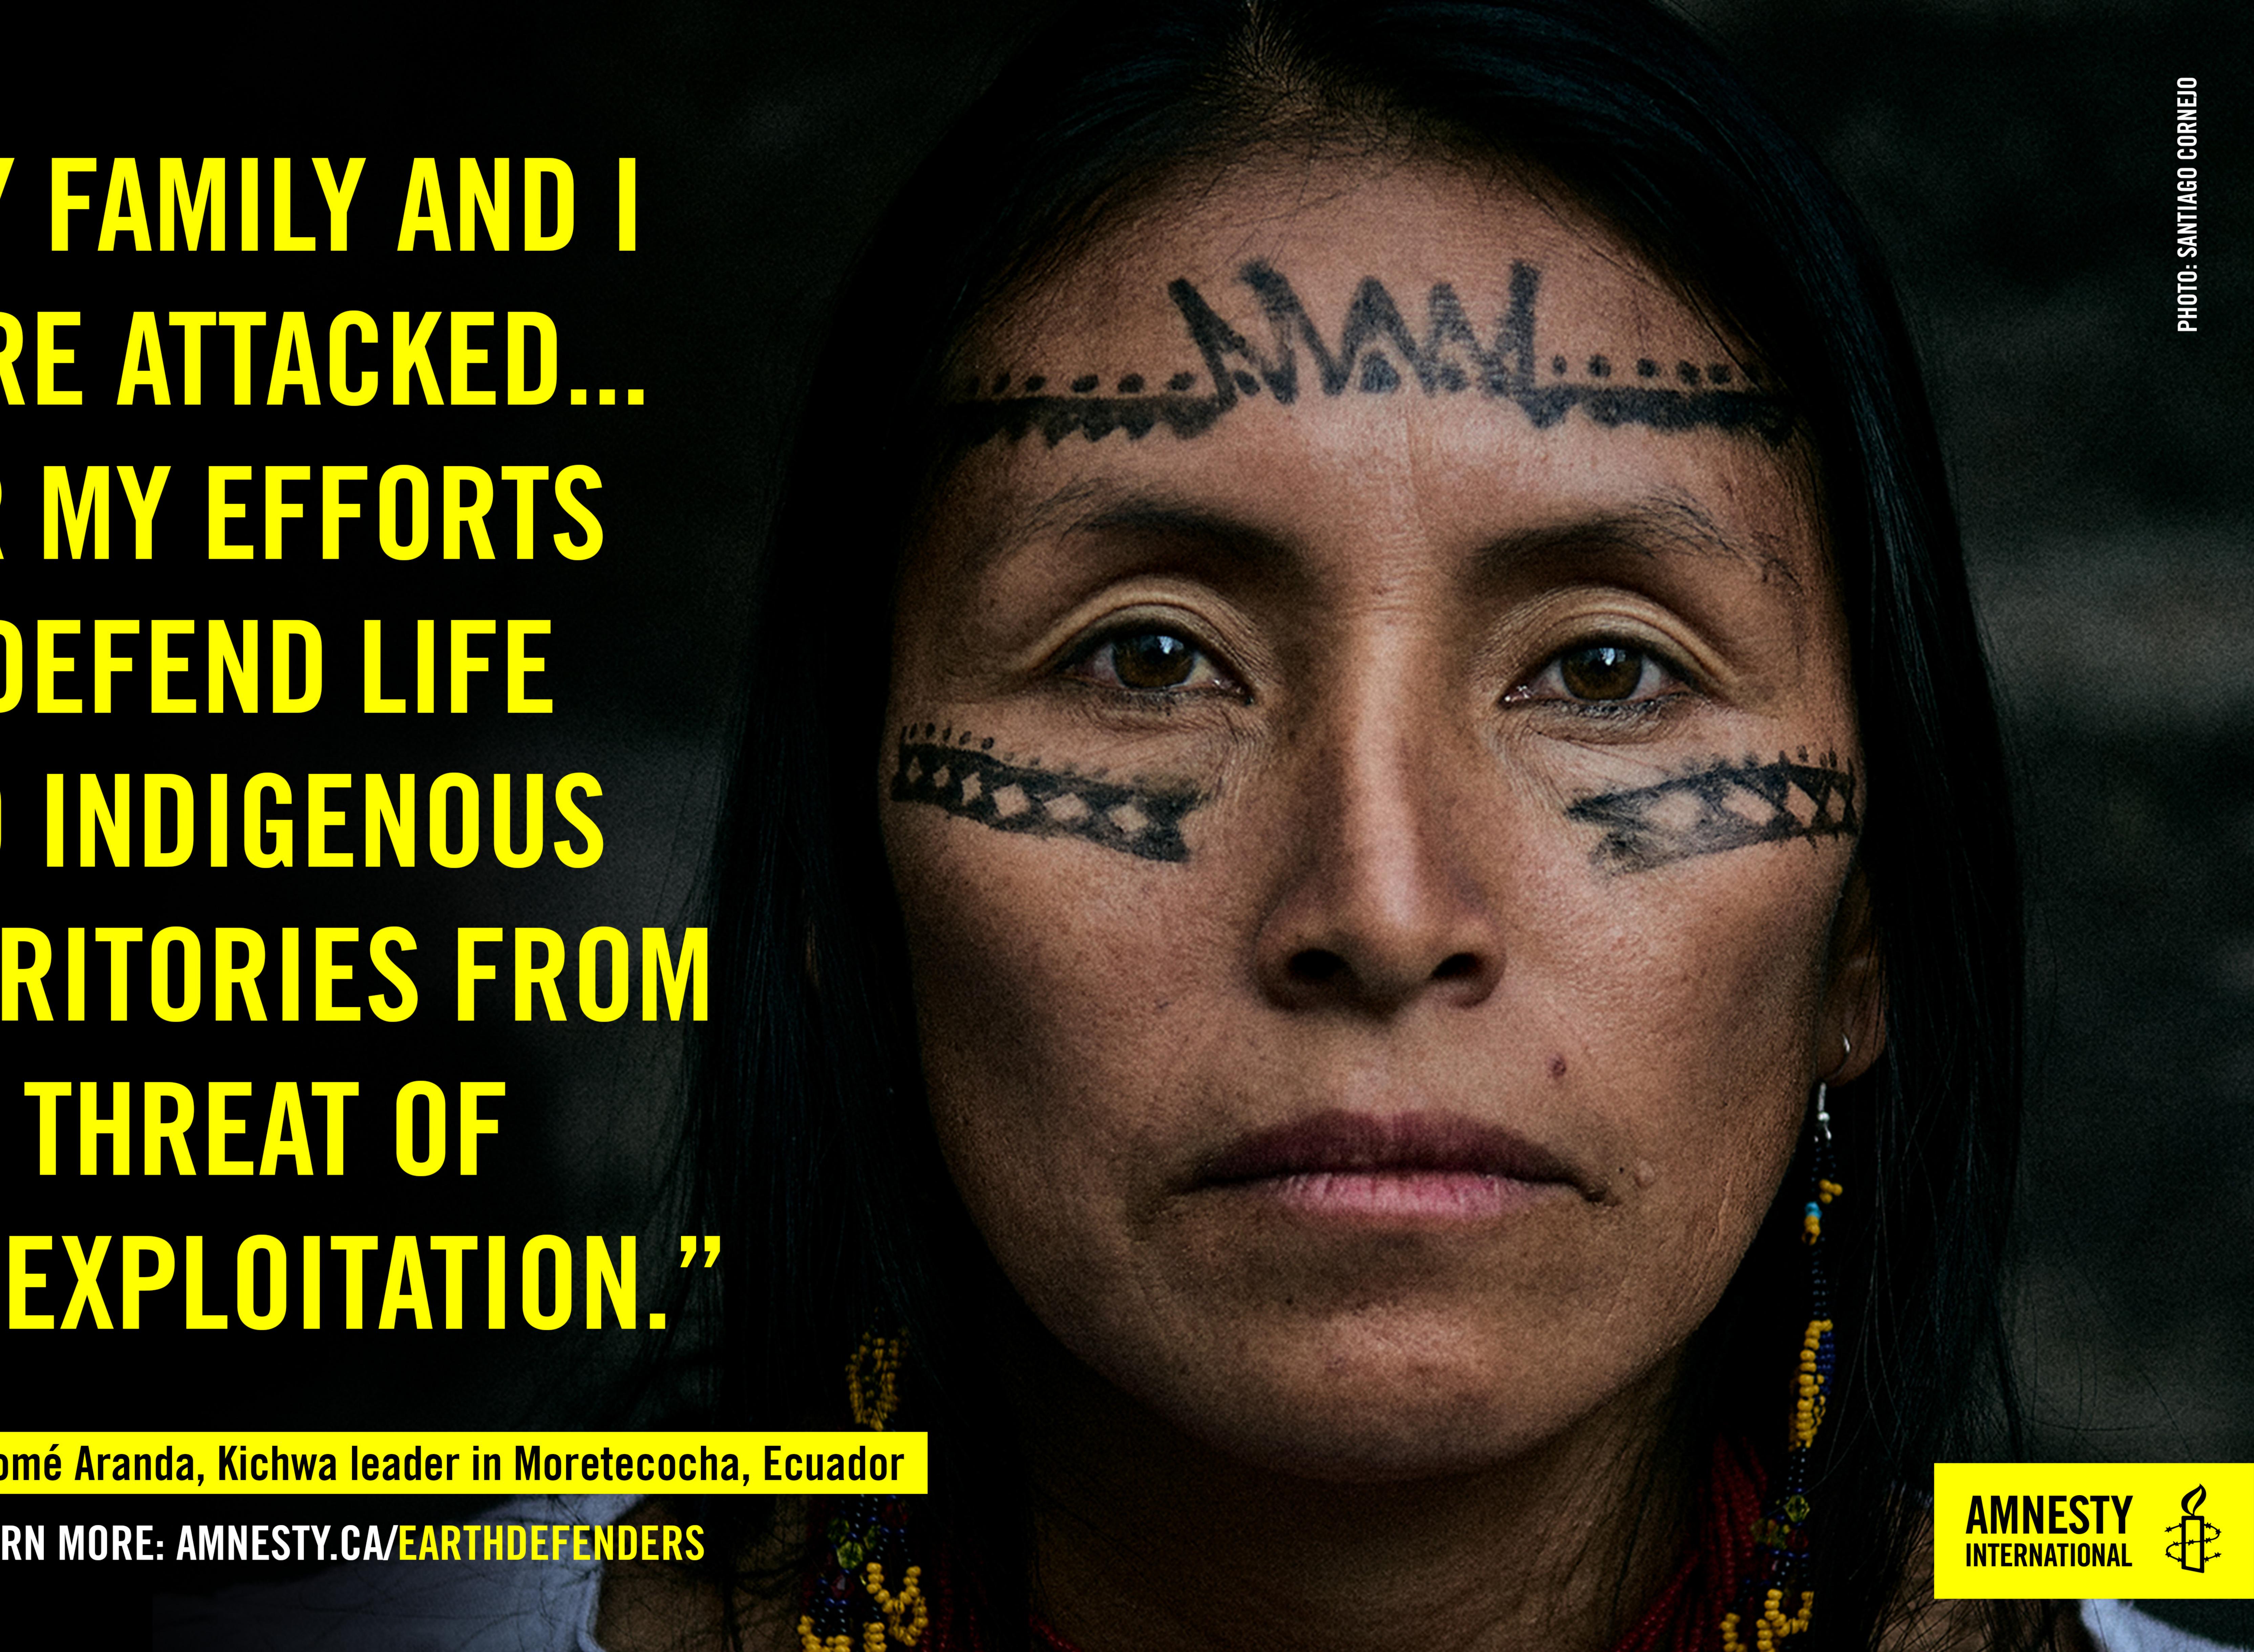

HAVE HAVE NO REPLACEMENT WE HAVE ONLY THIS ONE. WE HAVE TAKE ACTION."

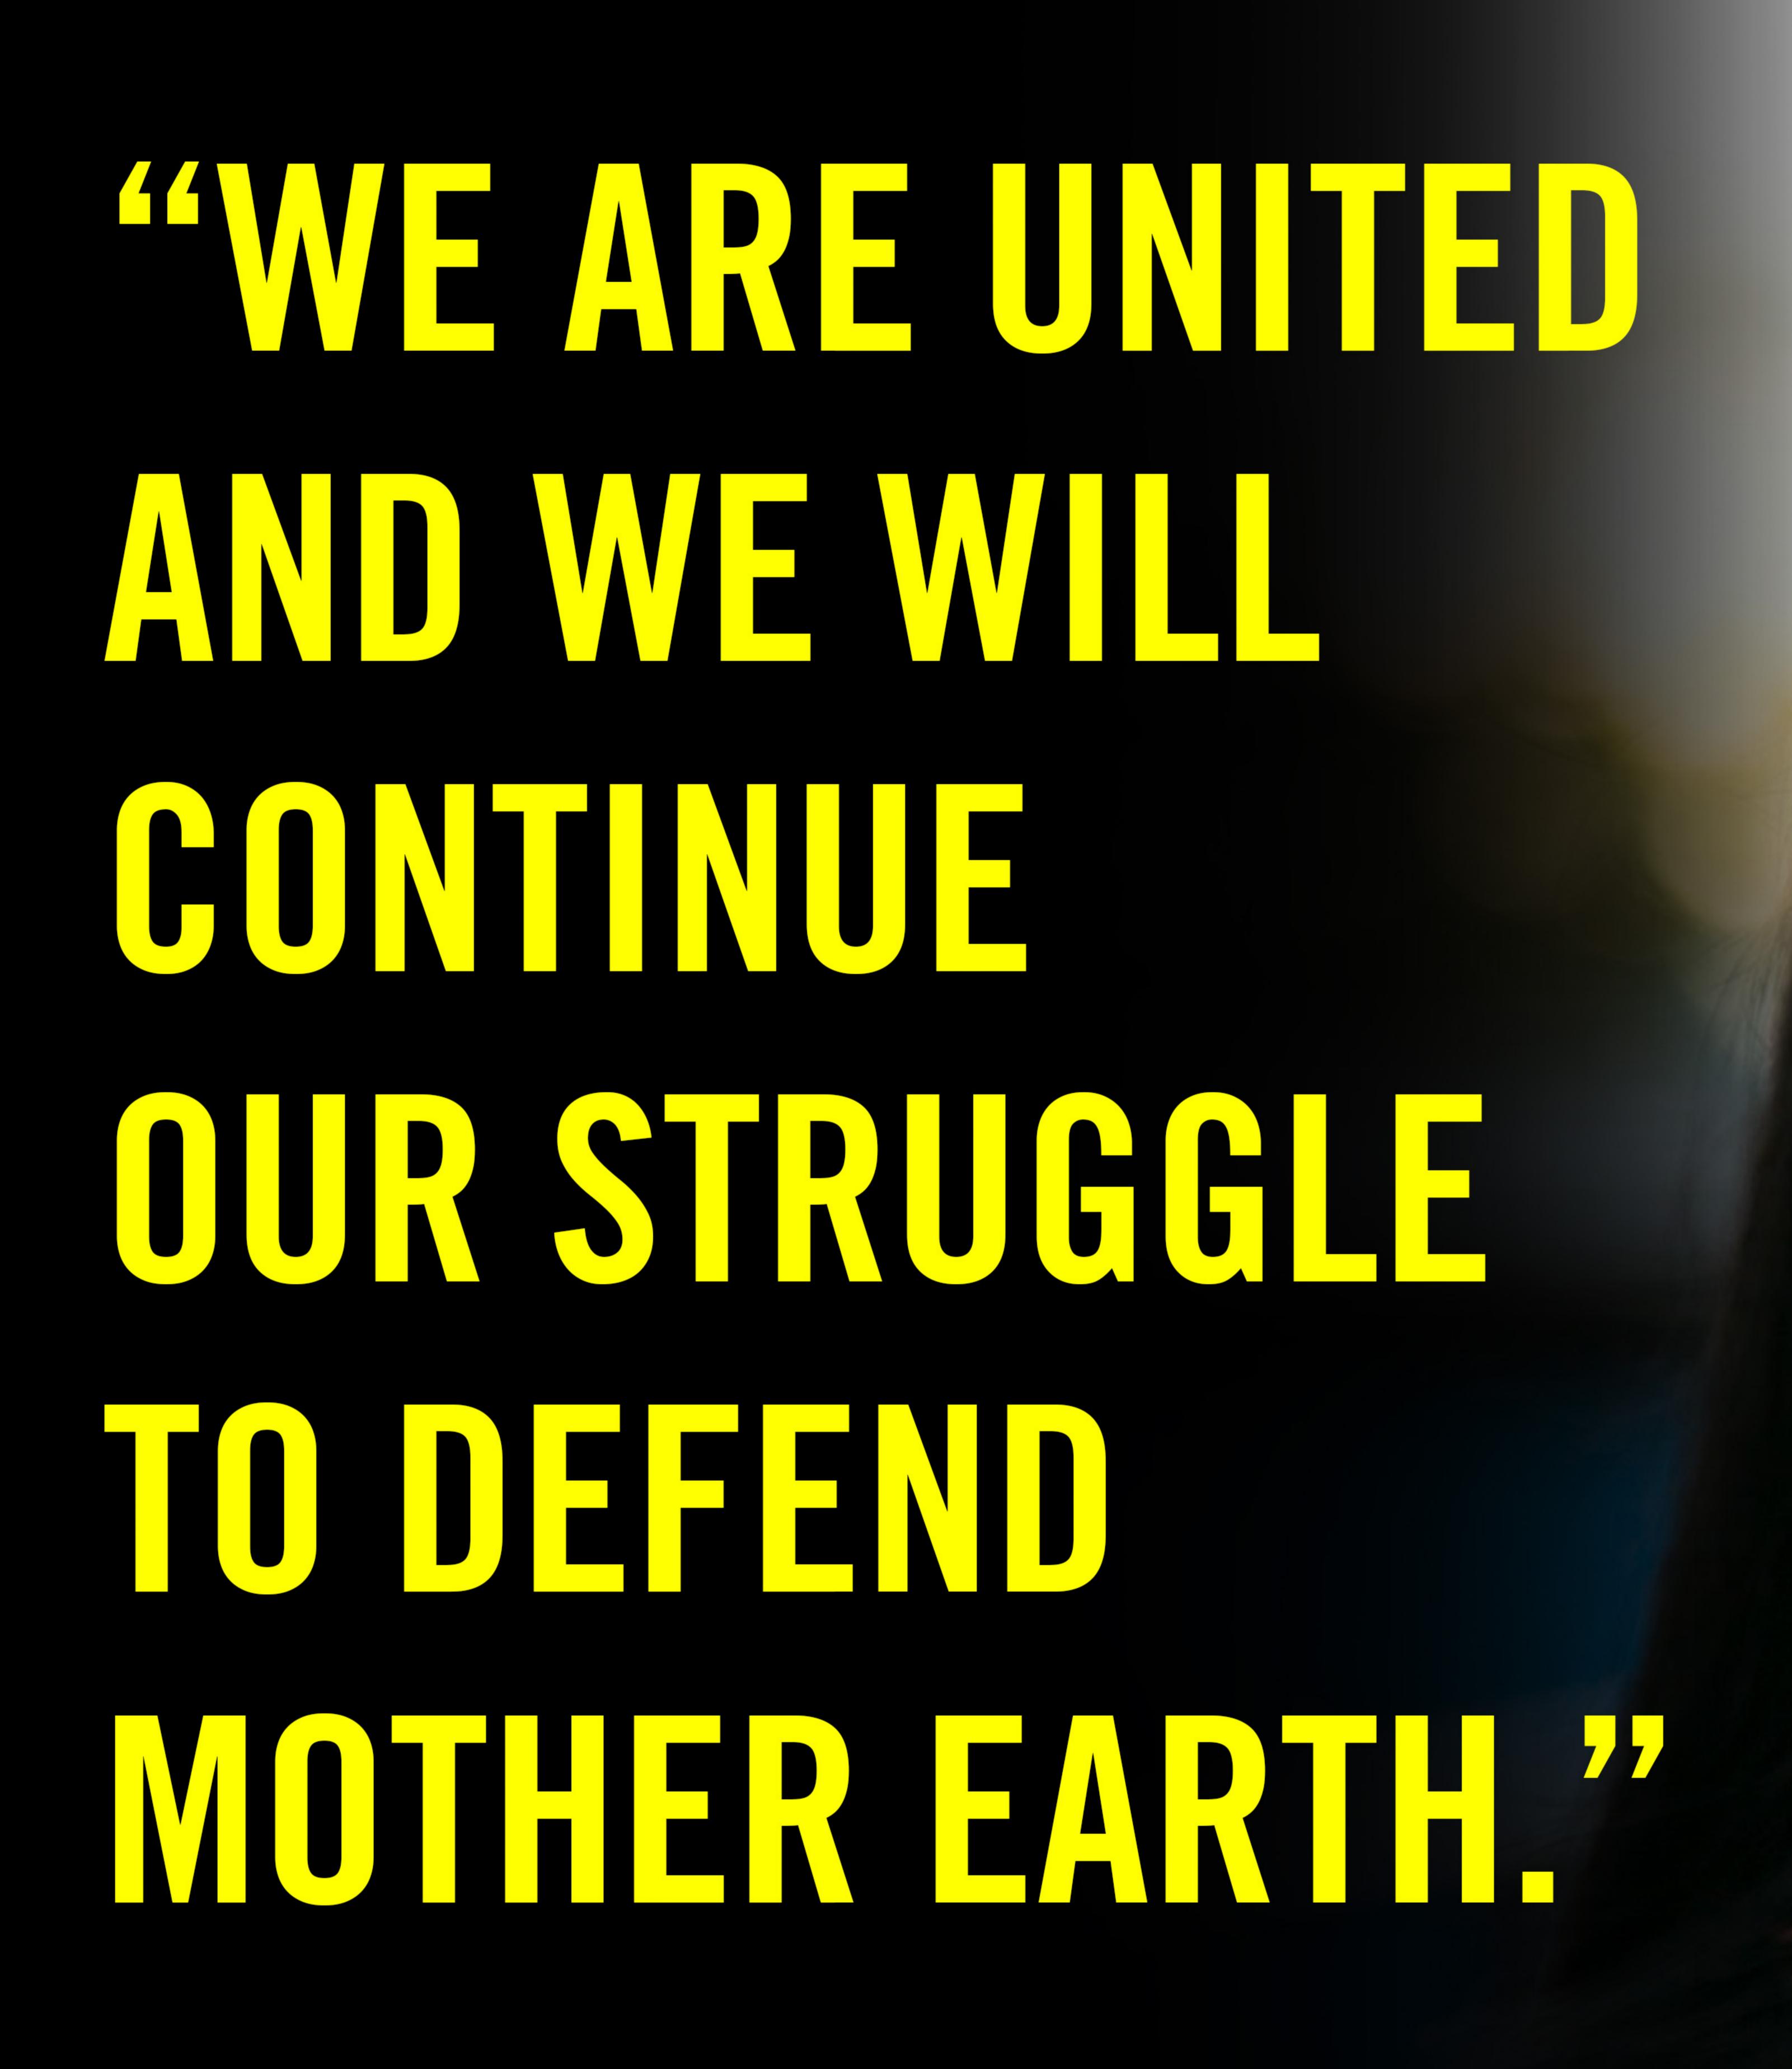

"MY FAMILY AND WERE ATTACKED... FOR MY EFFORTS TO DEFEND LIFE AND INDIGENOUS TERRITORIES FROM THE THREAT OF OIL EXPLOITATION:"

Salomé Aranda, Kichwa leader in Moretecocha, Ecuador

LEARN MORE: AMNESTY CAVEARTHDEFENDERS

Patricia Gualinga, Kichwa Indigenous leader of the Sarayaku community who was attacked and threatened with death

LEARN MORE: AMNESTY.CA/EARTHDEFENDERS

"THREATS CONTINUE AGAINST THOSE WHO DEFEND THE RIVER BUT WE WILL NOT GIVE UP

María Mercedes Gómez, Rio Blanco, Honduras

LEARN MORE: AMNESTY.CA/EARTHDEFENDERS

"SOLIDARITY IS IMPORTANT. WHEN CANADIANS SPEAK OUT, IT CARRIES A LOT OF WEIGHT IN HONDURAS."

Bertha Zúniga Cáceres, Civic Council of Popular and Indigenous Organizations of Honduras

LEARN MORE: AMNESTY.CA/EARTHDEFENDERS

"DESPITE FEAR
AND VIOLENCE,
WE CONTINUE TO DEFEND WATER THAT BELONGS TO ALL."

Laura Zúniga Cáceres, daughter of murdered Lenca leader Berta Cáceres

LEARN MORE: AMNESTY CA/EARTHDEFENDERS

